To participate in the Formula GT Challenge, a minimum of a national B-license for circuit racing is required.

To obtain this license, one must complete a racing school that includes both theory, practice, and a final exam. If you already have a racing license, it must be renewed to be valid in the current year. Before attending a racing school, one must be a member of a club. We recommend contacting the organizers for details on participation requirements and car specifications. Please note that noise regulations may apply on license days.
